

AGRIBUSINESS

OVERVIEW

The attorneys at Foulston Siefkin have provided counsel in the agricultural industry for more than 90 years. Our firm is experienced and equipped to handle the issues and challenges that our clients face in all sectors of agribusiness: contracts, leases, employment and labor, immigration, litigation, government programs and regulation, the environment, water and mineral rights, business succession, tax and estate planning, intellectual property and lending and creditor's rights.

Foulston Siefkin is proud of its tradition for legal excellence in Kansas since 1919. Foulston Siefkin is the state's largest law firm and has three offices strategically located throughout Kansas. We understand the economic, business and legal framework in which Kansas companies compete and have the resources of the state's largest law firm to commit to the legal needs of Kansans involved in agribusiness.
