

KANSAS LEGISLATIVE INSIGHTS NEWSLETTER | FEBRUARY 24, 2025

WEEK 6 – TURNAROUND DAY MARKS KEY DEADLINE FOR LEGISLATURE

Thursday, Feb. 20, marked a critical juncture in the legislative session: Turnaround Day. It was the final opportunity for bills to be debated and passed in the House or Senate before moving to the opposite chamber. Lawmakers raced against the clock, making last-minute pushes to advance their proposals. Any bill not considered or not referred to an exempt committee before the deadline is unlikely to pass in the 2025 session.

The Senate completed its work in two days, while the House required an additional day, finishing on Turnaround Day.

Senate Moves Forward on Key Legislation

The Kansas Senate completed the first half of its 2025 session ahead of schedule, passing legislation that tightens public assistance rules, increases government oversight, and alters state governance procedures. Among its actions, the Senate Committee on Government Efficiency led efforts to reshape public assistance programs, successfully advancing three bills. Modeled after the federal Department of Government Efficiency (DOGE), the committee spearheaded several reform measures.

One key proposal, Senate Bill 161, passed 30-10. It requires legislative approval before state agencies seek federal waivers that expand public assistance eligibility or increase state costs. Debate over the bill included an unsuccessful attempt to add Medicaid expansion, which was rejected 12-28.

During the first half of the session, the committee also launched the Government Efficiency Portal, allowing the public to submit ideas on how the state government can better serve Kansas residents.

House Tackles Broad Agenda

Over three days, the Kansas House of Representatives debated bills on public safety, health care, education, and taxation. The House also passed the budget, though that effort will be discussed later in this newsletter.

In a move affecting housing, lawmakers repealed the Kansas Affordable Housing Tax Credit Act (HB 2119), citing its $25 million annual cost. Supporters warned that ending the program could reduce housing availability, but the measure passed 85-36.

In a rare moment of bipartisan agreement, HB 2160, which strengthens whistleblower protections for municipal employees reporting unlawful or dangerous conduct, passed unanimously.

Second Half of the Session Begins

Now, the work from each chamber moves to the other for review and discussion in the second half of the legislative session. Below is the legislative “box score” at halftime.

LEGISLATURE OVERRIDES FIRST VETO

The Kansas Legislature overrode Gov. Laura Kelly’s (D-Topeka) veto of the Help Not Harm Act, banning gender-affirming care for minors. The new law prohibits puberty blockers, hormone therapy, and gender transition surgeries.

Gov. Kelly vetoed the bill on Feb. 11, arguing it would harm families, businesses, and the economy. The Republican-controlled legislature secured the override with a 31-9 Senate vote and an 85-34 House vote.

Supporters claim the law protects children from irreversible treatments, while opponents call it government overreach. The law takes effect immediately, requiring doctors to phase out treatments by year’s end. Advocacy groups plan judicial challenges.

HOUSE APPROVES LEGISLATIVELY LED BUDGET

The Kansas House of Representatives approved HB 2007 on Feb. 19, passing the state’s first legislatively led budget with an 83-36 vote. The bill appropriates $27 billion for fiscal year 2025 and $25.5 billion for fiscal year 2026, including $10.6 billion from the State General Fund (SGF). The 2026 budget reduces spending by $246 million compared to the prior year, primarily by eliminating 1,000 vacant positions and implementing a 1.5% reduction in general operating expenses.

Republican leaders argued that the budget keeps spending within sustainable limits as the state's revenue outlook tightens. Rep. Troy Waymaster (R-Bunker Hill), chair of the House Appropriations Committee, said the goal was to produce a fiscally responsible plan while maintaining funding for critical services.

Key Spending Allocations

The budget includes:

- $14.3 million for two-year college apprenticeships
- $10.5 million for technical colleges
- $7 million for a Kansas Highway Patrol airport hangar
- $4.5 million for aviation research at Wichita State University
- $1.9 million for dam repairs by the Kansas Department of Wildlife and Parks
- $179 million for bridge construction and repairs
- $8.7 million to clear part of the Medicaid intellectual and developmental disability services waitlist

Lawmakers restored $1 million to the Kansas Department of Commerce after receiving requested details on economic development incentives.

Debate and Amendments

Democrats and Gov. Kelly criticized the plan for underfunding special education. The governor proposed $72.6 million for special education for fiscal year 2026. By contrast, the budget increases special education funding by $10 million. An effort by Rep. Jarrod Ousley (D-Merriam) to reallocate sports fund revenue for special education failed.

Lawmakers proposed six amendments, all of which failed except for two Republican-led revisions. Among the rejected amendments:

- House Democrats sought $30 million more for special education; the committee instead settled for $10 million.
- Medicaid expansion failed, keeping Kansas among the 10 states that have not expanded the program.
- Rep. Jo Ella Hoye (D-Lenexa) introduced an amendment to eliminate school meal copays for lower-income students, which failed 40-77.

House Republicans argued that spending constraints were necessary as the state faces projected revenue shortfalls. The budget does not include funding for free school meals, despite efforts by Democrats to include it.

Next Steps

If approved by the Kansas Senate, this would mark the first time in five years that the Republican-controlled Legislature has reduced overall spending. The bill now moves to the Senate, where further modifications may be made before reaching Gov. Kelly's desk.
