PROFILE

Attorney Cameron Edens, based in Foulston's Wichita office, works with clients to create estate and trust plans that reflect their wishes – whether that may be passing on assets, ensuring family succession of a company's leadership, managing tax consequences, or leaving a philanthropic legacy. A strong communicator, Cameron enjoys collaborating with clients to understand their priorities in an estate or trust matter, then creating a plan that helps clients reach those goals. In addition to his legal education, Cameron interned at Cambridge Investment Research, giving him insight into how financial and investment advisors work with clients.

Cameron earned his Juris Doctor from Washburn University School of Law, where he was awarded a Dean's Academic Excellence Scholarship and earned top marks in multiple areas of study. He was selected by law school faculty to mentor first-year law students, and assisted Washburn professor Amy Westbrook's research in corporate and transactional law. At Kansas State University, Cameron graduated summa cum laude with a Bachelor of Science in economics and a minor in personal financial planning.
