

FRANCIS BAALMANN SELECTED TO WICHITA BIZ JOURNAL'S EMERGING LEADERS CLASS

Foulston Siefkin partner Francis Baalmann has been selected as a member of The Wichita Business Journal's 2016 Emerging Leaders class.

These young professionals will be taking part in a year-long program that includes roundtable discussions, panel discussions, mixers, events and a class at the Kansas Leadership Center.

The goal is to create a new generation of leaders for Wichita and retain them as talented professionals in the community. This is the second year for the program.
