

KANSAS LEGISLATIVE INSIGHTS NEWSLETTER | FEBRUARY 16, 2024

WEEK 6

Last week, the deadlines passed for non-exempt committees and individual legislators to introduce bills. Next week, Feb. 23 marks the turnaround deadline for non-exempt bills to pass in their house of origin. Turnaround is informally viewed as the halfway mark of the legislative session. Child support orders, cell phones, and pornography were among the issues on the legislative agenda this week.

The biggest news is what didn't happen. There was no veto override attempt by the House of Representatives. Grassroots lobbying efforts to flip one vote in the Senate continued. The deadline to consider a veto override is next week.

FLOOR DEBATE

This week, both chambers debated and approved non-controversial measures to reduce the debate calendars for next week. In the House, all measures passed by wide margins. The closest House vote was 86 to 30 on HB 2499. It prohibits the use of a mobile telephone while operating a vehicle in a school zone or a road construction zone or by individuals under 18 years of age.

Wednesday, the House debated HB 2588 related to net metering by public utilities. Evergy was commended for coming to the table and making this compromise possible along with House Energy, Utilities and Telecommunications Committee Chair Leo Delperdang, R-Wichita. The measure passed 116-0.

Thursday, the Senate debated seven bills which passed comfortably. The most noteworthy was SB 394, requiring the use of age-verification technology to permit access to internet websites containing material that is harmful to minors. It is a new approach to making it more difficult for anyone under 18 to view pornography with an age-verification requirement. Kansas joins eight other states which have approved similar measures. The closest Senate vote was on Senate Resolution 1737, affirming Texas Governor Greg Abbott's right to defend the state of Texas from unrestrained illegal immigration; the vote was Yea: 26, Nay: 11.

The House Appropriations and Senate Ways and Means Committees continued working through the budgets of state agencies.

Monday, the Senate Judiciary Committee heard SB 425, giving pregnant mothers the ability to receive child support. SB 425 is identical to HB 2476. Both bills would add direct medical and pregnancy-related expenses to the state guidelines determining child support. Under Kansas law, parental relationships are not established until birth. Under the bill, child support would be calculated from the date of conception. There was a question about the legal implications of defining fetal personhood into law. Thursday, the House Federal and State Affairs Committee heard HB 2476.

The Senate Financial Institutions and Insurance Committee conducted two days of hearings on SB 495. It modifies certain terms, definitions, deadlines, and provisions contained in the Uniform Consumer Credit Code and transfers certain mortgage provisions from the Uniform Consumer Credit Code to the Kansas Mortgage Business Act.

The Senate Assessment and Taxation Committee heard SB 453, excluding Social Security payments from household income and expanding eligibility related to increased property tax homestead property tax refund claims.

This week, the Senate Utilities Committee had hearings on issues relative to the retirement of fossil-fuel-fired electric generating units and utilities rate bases. SB 456 establishes a rebuttable presumption against retirement of fossil-fuel-fired electric generating units, requiring the state corporation commission to report on such retirements and extending the timelines for the commission to make a determination regarding rate-making treatment for generating or transmission facilities. SB 455 authorizes electric public utilities to retain certain electric generating facilities in the utility's rate base. Tuesday, the House Energy, Utilities and Telecommunications Committee heard HB 2620, which is the House version of SB 456. The committee also heard HB 2591. It exempts the state corporation commission from the Open Meetings Act and prohibits ex parte communications in all commission proceedings. This bill was subsequently voted out favorably Thursday.

Friday, the House Agriculture and Natural Resources Budget Committee heard HB 2582, increasing the membership of the Kansas Wildlife and Parks Commission from 7 to 9 members. Also on Friday, the House Health and Human Services Committee heard HB 2789. It establishes the Pregnancy Compassion Program to provide resources and promote childbirth to women facing unplanned pregnancies and promote public awareness of available resources, appropriating $4,000,000 per year from the state general fund toward such program and establishing a fee on the "In God We Trust" and the "Choose Life" license plates and using such fees to provide additional revenue for such program.

TURNAROUND WEEK

Next Monday and Tuesday, committees will complete consideration of non-exempt bills remaining in committee. Both chambers will be on the floor the rest of the week debating bills. Non-exempt bills not passing in their chamber of origin by next Friday will be dead for this session.
