

KANSAS LEGISLATIVE INSIGHTS NEWSLETTER | FEBRUARY 19, 2021

February 19, 2021

SENATOR ESTES SERVICES

On Saturday, Feb. 13, Sen. Bud Estes, R-Dodge City, passed away at age 74. He served two terms in the Kansas House of Representatives from 2013-2016. Senator Estes served in the Senate since 2017 and was re-elected last November. Bud was a well-respected lawmaker who will be missed. His service is next Monday in Bucklin. Both the House and Senate will be meeting Pro Forma, allowing members to attend the funeral. Kansas Legislative Insights extends our deepest sympathies to his family.

WEATHER SLOWS SESSION

After the Friday deadline for bill introductions by individual legislators and non-exempt committees, there were more than 600 bills introduced between the House and Senate. Because of the weather state of emergency, there were committee cancellations on Monday and Tuesday, while others met virtually. Many legislators met virtually on Monday and Tuesday. To conserve energy, Statehouse hallway lights were darkened on both days as well. Legislative committees and subcommittees continue to churn through the budgets of state agencies. Next week is the last opportunity for non-exempt committees to debate and pass bills by the Feb. 26 deadline before turnaround.

COMMITTEE ACTION

This week, the Senate Commerce Committee held hearings on SB 177. It is the Senate version of the legislative version to modernize the State's unemployment insurance system and address unemployment fraud issues.

The November 2020 election controversy generated bills about mail-in ballots and other election-related issues. Also, this week the House Elections Committee heard a bill shortening the receipt deadline for mail ballots postmarked by Election Day to be counted. The bill would shorten the receipt time from three days to the day after the election. The Kansas County Clerks and Election Officials Association opposed the bill, noting that the 2020 Kansas elections proceeded smoothly. According to the Secretary of State's Office, 85% of the mail ballots were returned before Election Day. Only 15,000 of the general-election voters had their ballots arrive on Thursday and Friday. This represents approximately 1% of the 1.3 million Kansans who cast ballots. The Kansas County Clerks and Election Officials Association did recommend a permanent list of residents who want an advance ballot, saving them from sending duplicate requests for each election cycle. It would be similar the current list for disabled individuals voting by mail.

The House Elections Committee passed a bill preventing cross-party appointments of state treasurers and insurance commissioners. Under current state law, the Governor makes replacement appointments without regard to the political party of the last elected officer. This year Gov. Kelly appointed Lieutenant Governor Lynn Rogers as State Treasurer, replacing Republican State Treasurer Jake LaTurner who was elected to Congress. Under the proposal, the political party of the outgoing Treasurer or Insurance Commissioner would hold a convention to select the successor.

Next week, the legislature's Joint Building Committee will tour the Docking State Office building as the State continues to ponder options for its future.

GOVERNOR'S PRESS CONFERENCE

On Wednesday, Gov. Laura Kelly's press conference featured the announcement of her "Back to School Vaccine Plan" to reopen schools. The Kansas Senate is working on SB 235, mandating that schools reopen no later than March 26. Under the governor's plan, schools would receive additional vaccine for teachers and staff along with the rapid-test kits. Kelly announced that the plan was made possible by an increase in the number of vaccines now entering Kansas. She said the number of vaccine injections received by Kansans had increased from 45,000 to 90,000 as of last week. The governor further indicated that the weekly number of vaccinations could increase to 115,000 relatively soon. Gov. Kelly attributed Kansas' lagging in vaccine administration to flaws in the reporting system and human error.

FLOOR ACTION

On Wednesday, the House of Representatives debated 11 bills and passed them with large margins on final action Thursday morning. The House debated and passed an additional five measures on Thursday.

On Wednesday, the Kansas Senate debated and passed six bills. Senate Bill 60, defining when a crime is committed partly within this state, drew a proposed amendment by Sen. David Haley. Sen. Haley pointed out that marijuana is legal in other states and those non-Kansas residents in possession of marijuana traveling through Kansas may be unfairly ticketed. The rules committee ruled the amendment not germane.

The Senate also passed Senate Bill 85, requiring that missing foster children be reported to the governor and Legislature within 24 hours.

KEY TURNAROUND DEADLINE NEARS – FEBRUARY 26

The key deadline for non-exempt bills to be considered this session is rapidly approaching. Feb. 26 is the last day for committees in each house to meet and consider bills prior to turnaround. Both the House and Senate will be in session and on the floor of their respective chambers voting on bills each day Mar. 1 through Mar. 4. Turnaround day is Mar. 5, when all bills from non-exempt committees must be forwarded by their chamber of origin. There is no session Mar. 6 through Mar. 9.
