KANSAS LEGISLATIVE INSIGHTS NEWSLETTER | MARCH 19, 2021

WEEK IN REVIEW

This week, legislative committees concentrated on hearing and working on bills from the other chamber. We saw the House kill a Senate bill for the first time this session, and we saw the first major appropriations bill pass 24-13 in the Senate. Gov. Kelly criticized the use of federal COVID funding, rather than Kansas tax dollars, to cover as much as $568 million in public education in the two-year budget.

With Executive Orders expiring at the end of the month, the House and Senate Conference Committee reached an agreement on SB 40 on Monday. SB 40 updates the Kansas Emergency Management Act and limits the powers of the governor. After two weeks of discussion between House and Senate leaders, with input from Gov. Kelly, the Legislature approved the conference committee report on the Kansas Emergency Management Act in both chambers on Tuesday. The Act limits the governor's authority to issue Emergency Orders. This legislation requires the Legislative Coordinating Council to approve gubernatorial action designed to reduce the impact of state emergencies, makes clear that school districts will manage their own emergency responses, and allows county commissions to amend or reject any emergency orders. The bill adds the Senate Vice President to the Legislative Coordinating Council, assuring an even number of members from each chamber. The Conference Committee Report passed the House 118-5 and the Senate 31-8.

Next week is the last opportunity for non-exempt bills from the other chamber to be considered in non-exempt committees.

COMMITTEE ACTION

The Senate Commerce Committee spent three days on Substitute for House Bill 2196 on modernizing the Kansas Employment Security Law and unemployment insurance. The Senate Commerce Committee will "work" (i.e., discuss, debate, and vote on) the bill next week.

On Wednesday, the Senate Federal and State Affairs Committee started bundling various liquor bills. The Senate Judiciary Committee passed House Bill 2126, providing for immunity from civil liability for COVID-19 claims for adult care homes, community mental health centers, crisis intervention centers, community service providers, and community developmental disability organizations. Gov. Kelly vetoed the protection for nursing homes last session.

On Thursday evening, the House Appropriations Committee finished their mega budget bill. It is a Substitute for HB 2397.

On Thursday, the House Federal and State Affairs Committee heard Senate Bill 84 on sports gaming. Kansas casinos are supporting the measure to legalize and regulate online and casino sports gambling. Lobbyists representing state lottery retailers and greyhound racing tracks asked to be included in the bill.

Next Tuesday, the House Federal and State Affairs Committee is hearing House Bill 2184, creating the Kansas Medical Marijuana Regulation Act.

HOUSE AND SENATE FLOOR DEBATE

On Tuesday, the House of Representatives rejected Senate Bill 235. It required school districts to provide for a full-time, in-person attendance option by March 26. The roll call vote was 55 yeas and 69 nays. Republicans, concerned about a loss of local control, joined Democrats to reject this largely symbolic measure. Senate Bill 235 had no penalties for the few remaining school districts that are remote learning only.

On Wednesday, Senate Bill 208, banning transgender girls and women from sports, generated several hours of heated floor debate. SB 208, as amended, would create the Fairness in Women's Sports Act and require interscholastic, intercollegiate, intramural, or club athletic teams or sports that are sponsored by public educational institutions to be designated based on biological sex. The bill passed 24-10.

On Thursday, the House passed (75-47) requirements for public school districts to offer firearms safety and education classes for K-12 students. If school districts decide to offer the classes, the State Board of Education would basically approve guidelines from the Eddie Eagle program offered by the National Rifle Association for grades K-5. Older students would have the option of hunter education programs. The House also rejected a bill that would have handed the State Fire Marshall's Office expanded law enforcement authority when dealing with fires.

HOUSE COVID-19 SOCIAL DISTANCING UPDATE

On Thursday, the Kansas House of Representatives reopened the east gallery of the chamber to the public. Since January, 40 House members have been seated in the east gallery as a social distancing precaution. With more of the 125 House members receiving the vaccine, this precaution was viewed as no longer necessary. It will allow observers to once again follow House deliberations from the gallery, rather than virtually.
